equality moral incentives and pdf

Equality of outcome, equality of condition, or equality of results is a political concept which is central to some political ideologies and is used regularly in political discourse, often in contrast to the term equality of opportunity. It describes a state in which people have approximately the same material wealth and income, or in which the general economic conditions of their lives are alike.

Economic inequality covers a wide variety of topics. It can refer to either income distribution (measuring the amount of money people are paid) or the distribution of wealth (the amount of wealth people own). Besides economic inequality between countries or states, there are important types of economic inequality between different groups of people.

1. Introduction. Since the seminal contributions of Holmstrom (1979) and Shavell (1979), the moral hazard literature has shown that superior information on agent performance can improve the principal's payoff. This result has implications for many contracting applications, such as compensation, financing, insurance, and regulation.
