For $b = 1$ the real exponential function is a constant and the derivative is zero because $a^j = a$, for positive a and $b > 1$ the real exponential functions are monotonically increasing (as depicted for $b = e$ and $b = 2$), because the derivative is greater than zero for all arguments, and for $b < 1$ they are monotonically decreasing (as depicted for $b = 1/2$), because the derivative is less than zero ...

Exponential function - Wikipedia

Characterization Probability density function. The probability density function (pdf) of an exponential distribution is $f(x) = \lambda e^{-\lambda x}$. Alternatively, this can be defined using the right-continuous Heaviside step function, $H(x)$ where $H(0) = 1$: $f(x) = \lambda H(x)$. Here $\lambda > 0$ is the parameter of the distribution, often called the rate parameter. The distribution is supported on the interval $[0, \infty)$.

Separation of a mixture into its pure components is an essential part of organic chemistry. For example, a chemist may want to purify the crude extract of a medicinal plant, isolate the pure product(s) of a chemical reaction from the reaction mixture, or identify foreign compounds in a sample.
