Constitutionalisation involves the attempt to subject all governmental action within a designated field to the structures, processes, principles, and values of a â€”constitutionâ€”™. Although this phenomenon is having an impact across government, its prominence today is mainly attributable to the realisation that the activity of governing is increasingly being exercised through transnational or ...

Constitutionalism. Constitutionalism is the idea, often associated with the political theories of John Locke and the "founders" of the American republic, and equated with the concept of regula iuris, the "Rule of Law", that government can and should be legally limited in its powers, and that its authority depends on enforcing these limitations. The following links and documents explore this ...
