The geological history of Earth follows the major events in Earth's past based on the geological time scale, a system of chronological measurement based on the study of the planet's rock layers (stratigraphy). Earth formed about 4.54 billion years ago by accretion from the solar nebula, a disk-shaped mass of dust and gas left over from the formation of the Sun, which also created the rest of ...

The geologic time scale (GTS) is a system of chronological dating that relates geological strata (stratigraphy) to time. It is used by geologists, paleontologists, and other Earth scientists to describe the timing and relationships of events that have occurred during Earth's history. The table of geologic time spans, presented here, agree with the nomenclature, dates and standard color codes set ...

Join Missouri S&T's geological engineering program. Geological engineering students learn about environmental protection and remediation, and are involved in the protection of wetlands, the cleanup of lead contaminated soil, the development of safe drinking water in rural Guatemala, and the protection of infrastructure like bridges, buildings and utilities from earthquake damage.
