â€¢ We can resolve both light and dark things at the same time â€¢ One mechanism for achieving this is that we sense light intensity on a logarithmic scale â€“an exponential intensity ramp will be seen as a linear ramp â€¢ Another mechanism is adaptation â€“rods and cones adapt to be more sensitive in low light, less sensitive in bright light.

â€œThe Strategies of Low Light Engagementsâ€• - formally known as Prevailing in Low Light Conditions This document serves as a small primer for an extremely interesting journey into the world of low light operations. It briefly covers some techniques. It DOES NOT cover the more important foundation of principle that techniques are built upon.

CHAPTER 8 ENERGY USE FOR LIGHTING Figure 3-1 - The energy performance of lamps is expressed as efficacy which is a measure of light output, in lumens, per watt of electrical input (lumens per watt). The efficacy of a regular incandescent light bulb is only a fraction of the efficacy of a fluorescent bulb.

Recommended Light Levels Common and Recommended Light Levels Indoors The outdoor light level is approximately 10,000 lux on a clear day. In the building, in the area closest to windows, the light level may be reduced to approximately 1,000 lux. In the middle area its may be as low as 25 - 50 lux. Additional lighting equipment is often necessary ...

The Light Source: Your microscope has an illuminator built into the base of the microscope and controlled by an on/off switch. You can control the amount of light entering the specimen by adjusting the diaphragm. You can also control the light intensity by adjusting the voltage of a transformer attached to the illuminator.

directly affects the rate at which photosynthesis can take place masking the effects of the other factors. Light and rate of photosynthesis At low light intensities, as light intensity increases, the rate of the light-dependent reaction, and therefore photosynthesis generally, increases proportionately (straight line relationship).

answer, in short, is light is a special kind of electromagnetic energy. The speed of light, although quite fast, is not infinite. The speed of light in a vacuum is expressed as  $c = 2.99 \times 10^8$  m/s. Light travels in a vacuum at a constant speed, and this speed is considered a universal constant.
